

Sept 30th: Orange Shirt Day- Every Child Matters

The most alarming aspect of the system was that its target and its victims were the most vulnerable of society: little children. Removed from their families and home communities, seven generations of Aboriginal children were denied their identity through a systematic and concerted effort to extinguish their culture, language, and spirit.

Justice Murray Sinclair, Chair, Truth and Reconciliation Commission

The Orange Shirt Society is a non-profit organization with its home in Williams Lake, BC where Orange Shirt Day began in 2013. The purpose is to:

- To support Indian Residential School Reconciliation
- To create awareness of the individual, family and community intergenerational impacts of Indian Residential Schools
- To create awareness of the concept of "Every Child Matters"

EAST TORONTO FAMILY PRACTICE NETWORK

Our Year in Review

East Toronto Family Practice Network

Initially the Primary Care Council of the East Toronto Central LIHN

- Advisory in nature
- By invitation only

Good discussions around developing the medical home model and increasing interprofessional team care to all family practices in the East. Laid the preliminary groundwork and discussions around collaborative and integrated care.

Healthcare Transformation

With the introduction of the Ontario Health Team, it was felt that family practice should not be an advisory council, but be part of the decision making process.

Council identified importance of an organized and inclusive voice representing all models of family practice in primary care- Solo, FHG, FHN, FFS, FHTs, CHCs.

Family Practice As Experts to drive system change

Main entry for community into the health system

We interact with every system in our society.

- All levels of government (city, province, federal)
- All levels of social services (housing, food security, financial assistance)
- All levels of judicial system (police, corrections, public guardian and trustee)
- All levels of health care (acute, chronic, long term care, hospital, home, community based)
- All health care and service professionals within all service models (private, for-profit, not for profit, religious/non-religious charities and public models)

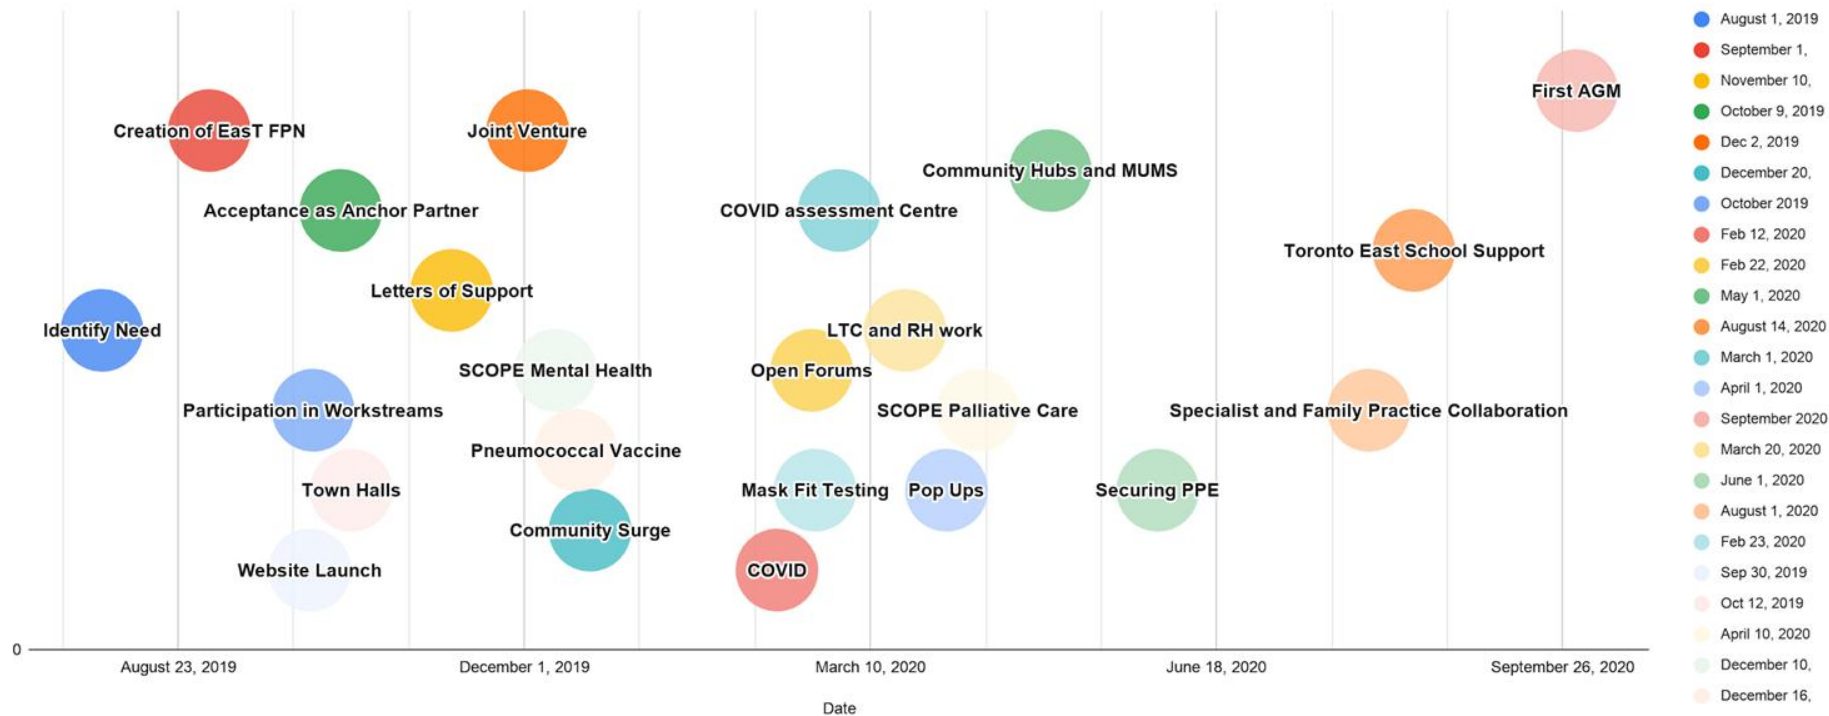

Family Practice As Experts

We see what works and what doesn't work every day and how these gaps impact the people we work for.

Despite interacting with these various systems, family practice in East Toronto has not had a consistent way to provide feedback and input to improve the design and delivery of healthcare.

So the East Toronto Family Practice Network was created.
